

Full time work

- We have two children and the cost of living is high in Lebanon. My priest husband teaches at the university over and above his priestly duties so as to meet the family's needs. I also work full time, it is no picnic.
- A priest's salary is modest. I work full time to meet the family's needs and to ensure peace in our home. It is not that easy. And yet we have never wanted for anything. God has seen to all our needs and many of our desires.

Source : answers the questionnaire sent by Rita El-Hajj to 20 Priest's wives, 2015.