

The difficulty in believing, in Notes intimes

For it is much hard work, this thinking God and everything that does not exist in the senses, faithfully looking at what one does not see, listening to what one does not hear, loving what is nowhere but in this soul where there is now nothing.

Source: Marie Noël, Notes intimes, Paris, Stock, 1959, p. 129.